The meeting will be held in Park Hall, and will commence at 2 p.m. Mr. W.R. Howson, provincial leader, will be present. The question of whether or not candidates will be nominated at this time will be decided at this conference.

During the afternoon a hot luncheon will be served by the Medicine Hat Women's Liberal Club.

At 7:30 in the evening delegates from the Medicine Hat, Redcliff and Dunmore constituency will meet for the purpose of electing officers and nominating a candidate. After this meeting, which will be over by 8:30 a public meeting will be held and will be addressed by W.R. Howson and local officers. All will be welcome at this public gathering.

WILL DISTRIBUTE TREE SEEDLINGS

The provincial forest service branch is making arrangements for distribution amongst farmers, schools and other institutions on a similar basis as last year of seedlings of spruce, lodge pole pine, etc. from stock propagated at the nurseries at Oliver near Edmonton. This stock will be distributed on applications received up to Jan. 1st next. Last year a considerable distribution was made of spruce and lodge pole pine to many farms, schools and communities in the province. Next spring there will be considerable stock of white spruce and lodge pole pine for distribution as well as some jack pine, Siberian lodge, green ash and elm.

A Bridge tournament will be held probably some evening next week under the auspices of the Little Theatre Association. Any one willing to be responsible for one or two tables, to be played off at one's own home, will confer a favor by conferring with the president, W. Campeau as soon as possible.

Badminton Club Is Officially Opened

Had Successful Social Evening Last Monday

Official opening of the local Badminton club took place at the club headquarters last Monday evening. The opening took the form of a social gathering to which a number of non members were invited.

The evening opened with progressive bridge in which twelve tables took part. The contest was keen throughout and several close scores were turned in. Mrs. F. Cann won the ladies first prize and Mr. C. Pow the gent's. Consolation went to Mrs. R. Simpson and Mr. L. Hicks.

After cards some of the players gave a demonstration of how badminton should be played, much to the enjoyment of the spectators. The players all showed considerable improvement in their play since last year.

A dainty lunch was then served by the L. A. to the Ladies who were the caterers, after which the decks were cleared for what proved a most enjoyable few hours dancing.

On the whole the evening program was well arranged and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

On Monday evening a jolly crowd of between 30 and 40 ladies assembled at the armchairs where Mrs. N. Willis entertained in honor of Miss Doris Storms a bride elect of this month. The first part of the evening was given over to what when Mrs. O'Brien carried off the honors and Mrs. H. Leppard the consolation.

Miss Storms was the recipient of an abundance of both pretty and useful gifts for which she thanked her friends in a few well chosen words. Miss Storms to become the bride of Mr. Jack Lakey on Saturday Nov. 11.

At the Bazaar held last Saturday by the members of St. Rita's Church Medicine Hat, Mrs. L. Caloon drew the fruit cake at the home cooking booth.

School News

A Remembrance Day program will take place in the High School Room on Friday Nov. 10 at 3 p.m.

The High School students are staging a mock trial. Arminia Clovertop (Mildred Walton) is suing Mr. J. Barrymore de Ewans. Sythe (Elmer Colman) for breach of promise.

Students from each of the Public School rooms are representing different countries and they will speak on the characteristics of these countries in order to promote good will and understanding among all foreign countries.

The local Canadian Legion is presenting prizes to students from grades three to twelve for the best essay written in honor of Remembrance Day, showing the utility of war. Local members of the Canadian Legion will be present to give the prizes to the winners. This occasion offers a splendid opportunity for instilling into the minds of the children a realization of the evils of war and a strong desire for peace.

The program will also include a sketch, "The Unknown Soldier" and several patriotic songs and recitations. A silver collection will be taken.

A movement is on foot, sponsored by the Alberta Motor Association to try to get the provincial government to change the date for renewal of motor licenses from Jan. 1st of each year to April 1st. With this object in view petitions are being circulated. One of these is Mr. S. Schneider's garage. Any one in favor of this change may sign the petition there.

The Clinic will be held in Gordon Memorial Schoolroom on Wednesday afternoon Nov. 15th.

Recent Reminiscences

Taken From Our File of Nov. 13th 1914

George Brown, manager of the government demonstration farm, just east of Redcliff, has been promoted to take charge of the demonstration farm at Sedgewick and left last night to take up his new duties. L. L. Hartman, of Oils, has arrived to take charge of the farm here for the next few months.

Our three policemen are looking quite nifty in their new uniforms.

N. W. Fennacy and J. Lawton left last night for Hamilton, Ont. where they will work in the Glass works there until the plant here opens up.

Thing-Tan a German strong haid has been taken by the Japanese and British. The Australian Cruiser Sydney has run down and destroyed the German Cruiser Emder.

Little Mary Harbert met with a serious accident yesterday while playing with some companions the little girl accidentally fell on a stick which she carried in her hand the sharp point of which entered her mouth and penetrated a vital spot in the throat.

EDITORIAL THE SKATING RINK

Now that there is every indication that this winter is here to stay, it would be wise if steps were taken at once to get the skating rink association re-organized and all preliminary steps taken to get things in readiness for the opening of the skating and hockey season.

No doubt there are many necessary repairs and improvements to be attended to and with the officers selected these could be attended to more conveniently now than when the weather gets more severe.

We understand also that arrangements have already been made for an inter-city hockey league with several teams in Medicine Hat, and that a schedule has been drawn up for the season. In this event the hockey club should also get organized so that its officers could make all necessary arrangements with the rink association for the season.

A little organization and work now would mean that everything should be in readiness to commence operations without delay just as soon as weather conditions are favorable.

THE B. C. ELECTION

The result of the provincial general election in British Columbia last Thursday was no surprise to those who have been familiar with the horrible mess in which the Conservative government and its supporters in the house have been floundering for the past year.

In the ranks and among the leaders of the party it appears to have been a case of the old school boy stunt: "you show me your sore finger and I'll show you my sore toe" and this was carried on to such an extent that the public contempt of such a dose of malignant nausea that they "threw up" the Conservative sponge entirely.

After settling the Conservative ship, the members of the government and their supporters in the house deserted their desks like rats leaving a sinking ship. Hoping to escape the responsibility for the scuttling many of them appealed to the electors under a variety of party names from Unionists to independents without leadership, platform or policy. There was not an official Conservative candidate in the field. Under these conditions the result of the election could not have been otherwise.

Since the C. C. F. was the only organized, concerted opposition in the campaign, their showing was not very encouraging for the new political party, as they had a candidate in every constituency but one, and elected only six members.

On the whole the election results show that the people of British Columbia have not much faith in any new fangled government experiments and much less use for a conglomerate mess of half a dozen different political parties playing cross tag with each other.

Looks Like End of Prohibition in U.S.

This Week's Vote Goes Strong For Repeal

As a result of votes taken in United States this week it looks as though the wets are well on their way along the road to ending prohibition from the constitution.

Thirty-three states have already voted against the 13 year old dry law. Prior to this week's voting only three more states were needed to bring legal drinking back to the country in the six states which voted this week it now looks as though four will go wet. North Carolina has big dry majority.

Liberals Make Clean Sweep in British Columbia

Not One Straight Conservative Elected—C. C. F. Wins Six Seats—Unionist, Labor and Independents Combined Get Five—Five More to Be Elected.

In the provincial general election in British Columbia last Thursday the Liberals under the leadership of Mr. Pattullo made a clean sweep of the province. Not one candidate running as a straight Conservative was elected. Indeed the Conservative party was not officially represented in the contest.

Although the C. C. F. had a candidate in every riding but one, only six of their numbers were elected. Their two principal leaders together with Hon. S. F. Tolmie government leader were defeated.

The following is the standing of the parties in the 41 constituencies in which elections took place last Thursday:

Liberals	30
C. C. F.	6
Unionist Government	1
Ind Nonpartisan	2
Labor	1
Independent	1

Owing to the sudden death of Mr. Bower during the campaign, election in Victoria, with four seats, and Vancouver constituency, with two seats, was deferred till November 27th. Mr. Bower was a candidate in both these constituencies. Twenty-nine candidates were originally nominated for the four Victoria seats.

The standing of the parties at dissolution was:
Conservatives..... 85
Liberals..... 11
Independent Labor..... 1
Vacancies..... 1
A redistribution bill passed since the last election in 1923, reduced the number of seats to 47.

Mr. Putallo, the Premier elect, will take over the reins of power on Nov. 15th.

SINGLE UNEMPLOYED MAY GO ON FARMS

A farm placement scheme with a $5 per month bonus paid to single unemployed men sent out to farms, will take effect immediately. It is announced by A. E. Mackenzie, Alberta relief commission chairman. "Every case will be investigated carefully to see there are no abuses. The idea is to get single men from the urban centers to go out to work on the farms. It is not for the purpose of bonusing those at present working for farmers," said Mr. Mackenzie.

Under this scheme, the farmer will give the man board in return for his work. Last year 1,300 men were sent out to Alberta farms under a similar scheme.

The local legion is holding a smoker and concert in the club rooms on Saturday evening Nov. 11th, for the members of the club. A pleasant evening is anticipated.

LOOK AT YOUR LABEL

Geologists Have Found Another Old Continent

Report States Last Traces Disappeared Thousand Years Ago

A real Atlantis that actually existed and later sank beneath the Atlantic Ocean like the famous lost continent of the legends was described in the annual report of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington.

Professor Albert Gulligan, British geologist, says in the report that evidence of its existence can be seen to this day in sediments, now deposited into rock formations, that are deposited by great rivers of the Atlantic in North America, Scotland, Scandinavia and Spitzbergen—on the borders of the north Atlantic. Evidence of these rock layers, he believes, can be explained in no other way.

Gulligan says this real Atlantis covered a large part of what is now the North Atlantic ocean until at least 250,000 years ago, the end of the great "carboniferous" period of geology when the coal deposits were laid down.

It did not disappear suddenly beneath the waves, however, carrying a great civilization to the doom like the Atlantis further north, described in the ancient Greek writings of Plato.

Nearly 200 youths attended the lecture, and Gulligan's theories, which he advanced through many millions of years, and a fragment of it may have remained projecting above water as recently as when the Norsemen were making their first trips to Iceland and Greenland about 1,000 years ago, were forming an additional "stepping stone" for his voyagers.

Some of the strata washed down from the old Atlantis and now hardened into rock, are as much as three miles thick, Gulligan says.

Wild Cattle Amaze Ranchers

Thousands On Islands Off West Coast Of British Columbia

Wild cattle originally introduced as domestic stock by the Hudson's Bay Co. have multiplied to such great numbers on the Queen Charlotte Islands, off the west coast of British Columbia, that they have become a nuisance to ranchers.

For many years presence of the wild cattle, subject of many wild stories by loggers, trappers and explorers, was regarded as mythical. People without knowledge of the islands were skeptical, regarding it as incredible that anyone could have introduced cattle to the comparatively remote territory.

But Thomas G. Bennett, livestock expert, was engaged by the Dominion government to investigate and he has returned from the islands with confirmation of the stories, long discounted. He says there are thousands of cattle on the island, many of them so wild that they do not venture near settled territory.

Visiting Cards Very Old

Chinese Used Large Red Ones Over Thousand Years Ago

Visiting cards in China are as old as the story runs that more than a thousand years ago they were in common use in China. From very ancient times to the present day the Chinese have observed the strictest ceremony in paying visits. The cards which they use for the purpose are very large, and usually of a bright red color. When a Chinaman desires to marry, he presents intimate the fact to a professional "match-maker," who then runs through a list of her visiting acquaintances, and selects one whom she considers a fitting bride for the young man. She then calls upon the young woman, armed with the bridegroom's card on which are inscribed his ancestral name and the day of his birth. If the answer is an acceptance of his suit, the bride's card is sent in return. Should the oracles prophesy good concerning the union, particulars of the engagement are written on two large cards tied together with red cord.

Opens Robot Railway

"When I pull this lever I set in operation the first centralized traffic control railway in Europe," said P. J. Pybus, British minister of transport, when he opened the Stanmore extension of the Metropolitan Railway at Welby, England. The "robot" service is now open. This branch is entirely controlled from a signal box at Welby, which is four and one-half miles from Stanmore.

Lead Life Of Silence

Monks In Irish Monastery Not Allowed To Speak

The monks of Mount Mellary have been praying on the hills above Clonmacnoise for the past hundred years. They are Catholicism and have taken vows of poverty, chastity, obedience and silence.

They never open their mouths except to eat their frugal food three times a day, and to say their prayers and chant their hymns in honor of their Creator.

On rare occasions some of them are selected by the abbot—who, of necessity, has already been absolved from the vow of silence to fill positions in the community which demand the use of their tongues.

When they are allowed the privilege of speaking—but only for so long as their superior assigns them to those special tasks.

When they are relieved of the duties which bring them into touch with the general public they go back to the life of silence.

Visitors to the monastery are attended to by the grand master who welcomes them, tells them they can stay as long as they please, guides them over the monastery, and sees that they are fed.

Nearly 200 youths attended the service, charmingly situated on a elevated plateau overlooking the valley of the Boyne. They are all boarders. Most of them are aspirants for the priesthood.

The course of studies pursued by these youths will have prepared them for the seven years' study of theology that must follow before they can become priests.

There are other than clerical students at Mount Mellary College. These are farmers' sons who are learning the trade of their fathers, and also learning much that their fathers do not know, for Mount Mellary Farm is a model of its kind. Students who are taught there go back to their parental farms with many revolutionary ideas.

They have been shown how, by running a farm properly, by evicting the tenants and using the material of the farmer is independent of the outside world except for two things: tax and sugar.

Defends 'Fads And Frits'

Director Of Schools Thinks They Are Most Important

The so-called "fads" and "frits" of modern education were defended by Francis W. H. Allen, director of the Milwaukee University School, Milwaukee, Wis.

Allen said: "I mean such things as music, art, drama, the manual arts and the household arts," he explained.

Allen declared that the most important problem facing schools today is to prepare students to employ their useful leisure time.

"That there will be more leisure for the future is an accepted fact," he said. "If schools can't prepare boys and girls to use this leisure time profitably, then the schools should close their doors."

"That's where the so-called fads and frits of education play an important part—they are the things with which people can usefully employ their leisure."

Short Speeches Are Best

Only Elongated Speech Can Win Favor With Long Men

Communists told a girl to a pole so that she could talk without the police removing her. There are some speakers that ought to be tied up, with a gas mask as a face covering, then they couldn't talk. And talking of speakers, isn't it about time there was a speaker's code that would limit introductory remarks and votes of thanks? Oftentimes the chief speaker of an occasion is spoiled by a verbose chairman who thinks he should say more than the man he is introducing, and then, at the end, along comes a vote of thanks that is so extended in length that it bores and tires the listeners. Short to the point speeches always have a good impression. The long sort, unless it comes from an eloquent, attractive, well-informed, stimulating speaker, never wins much favor.—Lethbridge Herald.

World Crossing Air Minded

Figures presented at the meeting of the International Air Travel Association in London show that the world's air lines cover today more than 200,000 miles as compared with 8,000 miles in 1912. Air transportation has thus made immense strides in the last five years and may be expected to advance in an even greater scale in the next five.

"Whenever you see a quitter," said Uncle Eben, "you're liable to see a man dat war'n' much of a beginner in de first place."

AT THE SOVIET STRATOSPHERE ASCENT

A scene at Moscow air field as the Soviet Stratosphere U.S.S.R., commanded by George Prokofiev (above), started the climb to the stratosphere that broke all previous records by attaining an altitude of 11,8 miles. Note that the bag seems but partly inflated. This is in all for gas expansion in the main. The balloon came back to earth 31 miles from Moscow with valuable stratosphere data.

Still Selling Goods

Man Has Worked 72 Years In New York Store

Count back seventy-two years and you come to the day when William C. Cressner, who has been working at the store—started work at the age of 11 in the store of Arnold, Constable & Co.

The troops were marching off to the war with the South. William Cressner kept working in the same store on through the war and on through the '70s and '80s and was still selling goods over the counter in the same store when the boys marched away to the war with Spain.

And when they sailed away to war in 1917, William Cressner was still selling goods over the counter in the same store. And William Cressner, at 87, was still on the ground floor of the same store when he was called out a short time ago to a ceremony celebrating his seventy-two years with the firm.

Seventy-two years of mercurial priesthood—selling new things, transmitting the source of happiness. Perhaps he reaches, like a procession in the past which proceeds on toward the future—a succession of men who are the same men, bearing goods to the world.

In sheer admiration we join with all those who over the years have bought from William Cressner's hands in paying tribute to a man rocklike in his character.—New York Telegram.

Earn Living By Hand Work

Today 8,000,000 Germans or about one in every eight citizens of the Reich, earn their living by hand work. Some exhibition organizers have brought together a wealth of articles produced by artistic craftsmen, and above all the products of old peasant art, which has maintained its value better than has been generally supposed.

New Way Usually Better

"Mr. Vincent Massey" says "Canadian firms handicap young men. So much the worse for the firms that entertain any prejudice of this kind. The only way to get out of business rut is to have young men who are regardless of what has been done before. The new way is usually the better way after a quarter of a century's running in a rut."

New confectory stores are being opened in London at the rate of one a day.

The United States supplied more products to Greece last year than did any other country.

FANCIFUL FABLES

A Woman Pioneer

Daughter Of Famous Hudson Bay Factor Dies In Calgary

Mrs. John H. Graham, 68-year-old pioneer Alberta woman and daughter of the late Senator Richard Hardisty, died at Calgary, October 14. She was born in Victoria, about 80 miles downstream from Edmonton, in the days when the population of what is now Alberta was only about two scores.

Birthplace of the former Cdn. Senator Hardisty was a stockaded fort on the Saskatchewan River in the Red Lake district and site of the first mission established by the late Rev. George McDougall, who died at Victoria after the college of that name in Kingston, but was later renamed Pines, after the chief of the Cree Indians.

Mrs. Graham's father was chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company and one of the most famous of a long line of Hardistys in the service of the company during the last century. He was the first senator appointed in western Canada.

Shortly after her birth the family moved to Edmonton and Clara was sent to Hamilton, Ont., where she was educated at the Ladies' College. She married John Graham at Edmonton in 1884, and in 1885 they came here to live. Mrs. Graham had been well known for her services in connection with the Old Timers' Association.

Her father's father was chief factor of the Hudson's Bay Company and one of the most famous of a long line of Hardistys in the service of the company during the last century. He was the first senator appointed in western Canada.

Building With History

Manney Hall, In Toronto, Is Largest Structure Of Its Kind In Canada

Manney Hall, which reopened this week after very complete remodeling, is the largest building in the history of Canada, far more so than any art gallery, any theatre, any school. It has exercised an influence on the history of Canada, far more so than any art gallery, any theatre, any school. It has exercised an influence on the history of Canada, far more so than any art gallery, any theatre, any school.

It was the first large-scale donation made to a purely secular cause by private wealth, whose benefactions up to that time—some forty years ago—had been confined to religion and hospitalization, with some reluctant exceptions to secular education. Those of young men and women have received under its roof the profoundest of modern disciplines and inspired which have sent them out to minister to the musical tastes and enlarge the capacities of their fellow throughout the land. It is probably the most widely beloved, as it is the oldest and the largest, structure of its kind in the Dominion. Canada has acquired in recent years a vast number of large risks, cinema theatres, wrestling palaces and horse show coliseums. It still has only one Manney Hall.—Toronto Saturday Mass.

Old Belief Shattered

Find Arctic Eskimo Can Stand Heat Of Fifty Degrees

The old belief that the Arctic Eskimo cannot stand heat has been shattered, according to reports from the R.C.M.P. Arctic post at Pangnaitung.

It appears that Constable McGuinness, in charge of the post, was entertaining a group of Eskimos in his quarters. He fed them bannocks and, after the customary talk, waited for them to depart. They didn't.

"Not wishing to hurt their feelings the constable started hinting for them to return to their igloos. They paid no attention to him, but nestled in a circle around the stove, continued to put away on their pipes."

Finally the constable was seized with an inspiration. He loaded the stove with fuel, opened the drafts closed the windows and left the door open. He waited 15 minutes for signs of the natives' departure, but in vain. He reported. The Eskimos had not moved from their places despite the fact that the stove was red hot and perspiration ran down their faces.

How Simple Fun

Housewives who have no refrigerator sometimes follow the plan of keeping the milk cool by wrapping it in a wet cloth and strapping it in a dish of cold water by an open shaded window. The evaporation of the water helps to keep the milk cool but it is important that the milk in cream be protected from direct sunlight or a tallowy flavor will develop.

Complete Trip With Dog Team

Gods Lake Gold Find

The major portion of the lake, including the island on which the work has been numerous, is shown on the Survey Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

New Year Gift

One chicken, hatched at Alpen, South Dakota, apparently hatched on the 1st of January, 1917. The chicken was born with a fur coat. It was hatched on the farm of Mrs. Alfred Phinney, and its body is covered with grey fur instead of feathers. The strange chicken looks somewhat like a rat although its bark and feet are those of a chicken.

Fisheries Exhibit

Attractive Displays Shown At Fair Paing This Year

Designed to increase popular interest in Canada's fisheries and to stimulate the use of Canadian fish products, attractive exhibits were displayed by the Dominion Department of Fisheries at this year's Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto and at the Central Canada Fair at Ottawa. Last year the department also had exhibits at several other fairs.

The main feature of this year's display at the Central Canada Exhibition consisted of a number of prepared specimens of Canadian fish and at Toronto there were shown 150 illustrations of fish, which were reproductions of paintings of fish and shellfish in their natural colors. Each preparation had been made from a freshly caught specimen so that the plates were accurately true to life in coloring and details of form, although some of the larger fish, such as the swordfish and sturgeon were, of course, not shown in life size.

The two displays show the value of fish foods from the dietary point of view and at each booth departmental cook books were available for purchase so that housewives might obtain authoritative information as to the best methods of preparing and utilizing fish. It was particularly fine. The exhibits, prepared by members of the departmental staff, attracted a good percentage of attention from the people at the two fairs and officers on duty at the booths had many requests for information as to the Dominion's fish and fishing industry.

Barber Stuck To Resolution

In Business Fifty Years But Only Cutted Cotten To Men Customers

Conceding that the barber of New Hampshire, has a barber whose resolution is as hard and enduring as the rock of Gibraltar, a good percentage of attention from the people at the two fairs and officers on duty at the booths had many requests for information as to the Dominion's fish and fishing industry.

Barber at age 70 after a half century of work, he proudly declares that never has he cut a woman's hair. Women have begged, threatened, argued and laughed, but no one could move his immutable determination.

His explanation of his resolution has been: "What was good enough for God Almighty ought to be good enough for me. He put the hair on their heads as a crowning glory. No boys or shingles ever will be executed in this shop."

And then, when perhaps, infuriated some potential customers the more, he would add: "Anyhow, women look much better with long, flowing tresses."

Average Athlete Good Student

Neither Brighter Nor Duller Than Non-Athletic

The average athlete considered by many professors to be a "dumbbell," has been corroborated as the result of tests made at the Milwaukee Teachers' College.

Tests show that he is neither brighter nor duller than the non-athletic type, and that he conforms to the general run of non-athletic students. Quite a few, it is true, are bright and intelligent, just as there are bright and dull non-athletes.

The survey was made from psychological tests given every male in the college last year.

In the freshmen-sophomore grouping, the athletes had a median score of 78, while the non-athletes scored 82. The athletes were 4 points under, but the score deviation from the general median was only 14.91, while the non-athletes deviated 20.90. The same median score of 51 for both groups.

What may have been his reply to the question: "Why do you exercise?" prevents men's hair from rivaling women's in quantity is not disclosed.
